1) Write a program to take input as number and get the sum of digits up to last fold?

2) Write a program to take input as array of numbers and print all the odd prime numbers?

3) Write a program to take input as a sentence and get the lists of odd length and even length words?

4) Write a program to take input as array of numbers and get the odd number list and even number list and combined list (even list followed by odd list) and print the combined list of (sorted even list and odd list)?

5) Write a program to input as decimal number and convert into binary, octal, hexadecimal numbers?

6) Write a program to take input as sentence in which the words contain the combination characters and numbers and print the highest number, print the sentence without numbers, print the sentence by appending all numbers at last?

7) Write a program to input as sentence and a character and print the word whose character position is highest?

8) Write a program to input as sentence and a character and print the position of the character in word as well as sentence if character isn't present in the word print the position as 0?

9) Write a program to take input as sentence print all possible anagrams in the sentence?

U KARTHEEK CHANDHRA PATNAIK